Reference Archcom, Bartosz Kluz

To whom it may concern,

It is a pleasure for me to provide a reference for Archcom, Bartosz Kluz. Archcom staff have worked for us on a wide range of maritime archaeological projects since 2017.

This included the assessment, monitoring and safeguarding of a 20th century wreck site in the Bay of Greifswald in March 2017, the assessment of various geophysical anomalies in April 2017 and the full excavation and documentation of two 18th century wrecks in the summer of the same year.

In December 2017 Archcom staff provided support for the rescue excavation of a large 12th century wreck site in the harbour of Wismar. In 2018 Archcom divers participated in the assessment of potential sites of archaeological interest in the Baltic Sea.

In addition to offering commercial and archaeological diving services, Archcom participated in the documentation of the recovered shipwrecks and rendered assistance with photogrammetric survey and recording.

The company proved to be flexible and extremely capable. Archcom staff was always professional, highly motivated, knowledgeable and well-versed in both maritime archaeology and commercial diving. The skill set of Archcom staff on our projects ranged from technical services, such as the repair and maintenance of diving equipment to underwater photogrammetry and the detailed archaeological timber recording on land.

We were extremely happy with the services provided by Archcom staff and would not hesitate to use this company again.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have further questions,

Best Regards,

Dr. Jens Auer
